CALL TO ARTISTS

An exciting opportunity to collaborate with a writer in a unique project

Using as a starting point the theme of 'creativity', Create plans to:

- Inspire and stimulate an artist and writer working as a team;
- Facilitate people of different disciplines working together; and
- Culminate with a collection of unique work, which could not exist otherwise.

The resulting collaboration could end with either a single joint work or a work of art and accompanying piece of writing from each pair.

The aim is for the project to culminate in April 2008 with:

- An exhibition of works (format to be decided);
- A dedicated area on the untitled website showcasing the work and documenting the process; and
- An opening party with PowerPoint presentation.

COLLABORATING ARTISTS:

- Writers groups in Kirkwall and Stromness have been approached.
- Please inform John Shapter or Sheena Graham-George of your intention to take part by Monday 17th December, as pairings will be arranged by Thursday 20th December.
- As far as possible, pairs will be from a similar area of Orkney - West Mainland and so on - otherwise they will be random.
- Although collaborators should make an effort to meet, much work can be accomplished by email or online.
- The starting point for discussion is the word 'creativity' - after that anything goes!
- Work should be complete by the end of March 2008.
