Update – April 2008

Both artists and writers are still very busy and we have had requests to extend the deadline, and will now make this the end of May. Thank you for all your hard work and creativity.

By this time we will need –

- Written description of work
- Short bio of each artist/writer
- Joint statement about the experience
- Size, number, medium, any special instructions for each piece.

Please do not frame any canvas or paper until the work can be photographed and scanned. We will arrange to collect the work in June – details to follow.

The project has taken off well, and is going to be a more extensive venture than we first thought, hence the extended deadline. Additionally, in order that we can do justice to exhibiting the work, we are looking at exhibiting and celebrating this in September.
